

A SALE OF TOWELS

That Ought to Prove Interesting News to the Housekeeper

Just this time of the year, there is always a great demand for Towels of every kind. In spite of the fact that prices have advanced in most all cases, owing to the present unsettled conditions, we are willing to let the few values mentioned here and the ample stocks in the store convince you that this is a Towel sale of unusual importance—and particularly from the standpoint of values.

PURE LINEN HUCK TOWELS AT 35c
Size 18x33, which is one of the popular sizes. This is a very heavy quality Linen and will wear for years; absorbs water quickly and is very soft on the face.

TURKISH TOWELS, 10c
A good value at 12 1/2c. Extra heavy and a popular size, only a limited quantity to sell at this price.

LINEN TOWELING, 10c YARD
A big value at this price. Good for drying glasses, dishes or for roller.

TURKISH TOWELS, 29c
Another extraordinary value, size 25x50, almost big enough for a bathrobe. Full Bleached and extra heavy nap. These Towels are subject to slight imperfections. Otherwise they would sell at 39c to 50c.

COTTON TOWELS, 10c
Good satisfactory size and all pure White. These Towels are good weight and well woven. The lot will not last long at this price.

TOWELING, 9c YARD
Actual value 12 1/2c. This is a full Bleached Union Crash of good heavy weight.

Special for Saturday 25c Linen Towels, 18c

These are 16x32 in All White or Red Colored Borders, and of good weight. They sell regularly at 25c. If you realized this value, you'd buy a year's supply, so don't blame us if the lot is sold because you did not get here on time.

The Homer Fitts Company

August Shoe Sale

of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Low Shoes, including Patent and Gun Metal Oxfords, Pumps and Colonials. This sale comes at this season when low shoes are in demand, and as you have from two to three months for wear yet this season, this is a grand opportunity for you to save some shoe money.

La France $3.50, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00 Low Shoes, now $2.98
$3.00 Low Shoes now.....$2.48
$2.50 Low Shoes now.....$1.98

All Misses' and Children's Low Shoes at a big reduction

The Homer Fitts Co.

MIDDLESEX

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Goodenough are visiting relatives in Massachusetts.

Mrs. F. J. Eaton and Miss Flora Walker spent Wednesday and Thursday in Waitsfield and Fayston.

Peter Kirkorian of Lynn, Mass., is spending two weeks at J. R. Hill's.

Mrs. L. C. Jones and Miss Edna LeBourveau spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. A. Farr in Waitsfield.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Harry Boyce and Miss Elsie Turner of Warren on Wednesday evening, Aug. 16.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cram is ill with cholera infantum.

A. C. Stockwell spent Thursday in Richmond.

Supt. W. B. Lance will hold a teachers' meeting in the village schoolhouse Saturday morning, Aug. 26.

Silas Eaton of Holyoke, Mass., visited his nephew, F. J. Eaton, Wednesday.

Frank Davis of Chicago is visiting George Miles and family.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Among the business visitors in the city yesterday from Northfield were James McGlavin and William Douglas.

Miss Margaret Booth and Miss Katherine Robertson have gone into camp at Peck's pond for a fortnight.

Surety for Mrs. Iona Bennett, a River street woman who was held for county court yesterday after a hearing on a grand larceny charge before Acting Magistrate A. A. Sargent, was procured last night when James Dickie, a well known Corinth resident, came down from his Sabine farms and posted $500 for the respondent's appearance in superior court next month.

Supt. Alex Hanton of the city cemetery left the city last evening for Boston, where he is to pass the week-end with Mrs. Hanton, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Louis Huntington of Allston. Early in the week he will go to Norfolk, Va., where he is to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Cemetery Superintendents.

This week's collection of unclaimed letters at the Barre postoffice was far above the average accumulation for seven days. Accounting of the pieces of mail that are deadweight now, so far as the postoffice attaches are concerned, show that no fewer than 147 letters have not been delivered. Postal clerks ascribe the redundancy of mail matter of this kind to political advertising, which has flooded the mails for the past two months. None of the envelopes containing political verbiage bears any return instructions, and so most of it is consigned to the dead-letter office after proper notice has been served on those to whom the letters have been addressed.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Will This Interest You?

Straw Hats at one-half the regular price.
50c Neckwear at 25c.
Children's Wash Suits at 25 per cent discount.
Sport Shirts at 50c and $1.00.
Munsing Union Suits at $1.00 and $1.50.
Athletic Underwear at 50c and $1.00.

The Frank McWhorter Co.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Cash paid for old gold and silver. F. E. Burr.

Judge H. W. Scott and Mrs. Scott and children, who are passing 10 days at Highgate Springs, will return to the city Monday.

Lost, last evening, from Hardwick to Barre, two automobile tires for Ford car. Finder apply to E. M. Laws, Barre, for suitable reward.

Miss Florence Robins returned to her home on Washington street this morning after visiting friends and relatives in Burlington and Plattsburg, N. Y., during the past week.

To-morrow night at Inter-city park Viola Dana in the Edison five-reel feature, "Children of Eve," also a Musty Suffer comedy, "Just Imagination." Show starts at 8 p. m.—adv.

Mrs. Kate McKinnon left this noon for Montpelier, where she will visit friends for two days before going to New York City, where she will spend the remainder of the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Angell and daughters, Misses Ruie and Christine, of East Brookfield passed through the city this morning while en route for Waterbury, where they will spend the day on business.

Through C. A. Clark, Montpelier agent for the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency, the two-tenement house on Berlin street, Montpelier owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Cressett of Jefferson street this city, has been sold to A. Forgues and wife of Montpelier. Mr. Forgues intends to live in one of the tenements, and rent the other.

Cards received here from the Barre party sojourning in Cleveland this week state that the delegates from this section are having a lively time, and newspaper clippings indicate that Barre granite is getting a pretty generous hearing from visitors at the convention of national monument retailers. The Barre visitors are registered at the Hollenden hotel and will leave for the return trip to Vermont to-morrow afternoon. Sec. H. P. Hinman will go from Cleveland to Kentucky and Georgia, and a majority of the delegates will enjoy a day's outing in the Thousand Islands, arriving in the city early Tuesday morning.

This week's collection of unclaimed letters at the Barre postoffice was far above the average accumulation for seven days. Accounting of the pieces of mail that are deadweight now, so far as the postoffice attaches are concerned, show that no fewer than 147 letters have not been delivered. Postal clerks ascribe the redundancy of mail matter of this kind to political advertising, which has flooded the mails for the past two months. None of the envelopes containing political verbiage bears any return instructions, and so most of it is consigned to the dead-letter office after proper notice has been served on those to whom the letters have been addressed.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

BARRE DAILY TIMES

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1916.

The Weather

Sunday partly cloudy; not much change in temperature.

TALK OF THE TOWN

New ladies' neckwear at Abbott's. Big Blue Ribbon, 5c cigar, sold everywhere—adv.

F. A. Ordway of Chelsea was among the business visitors in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Eda Matterson of Pearl street was taken to the City hospital yesterday for treatment.

Miss Elizabeth Morrison of 33 South Main street is spending a two weeks' vacation in Woodbury.

A son was born at the City hospital yesterday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Rae of 53 Pleasant street.

Wanted—A seat in an automobile Sunday going and returning through East Randolph. Tel. Eastman Brothers.

Miss Olive Hubbard, who has been visiting friends in the city for a few days, returned to her home in Hyde Park last night.

George Kelly of Boston was a business visitor in the city yesterday, leaving for Northfield last night, where he will visit relatives.

George Clemens returned to his home in Proctor last night after visiting friends on Brook street since the first of the week.

Miss Annie Malloy returned to her home in Lebanon, N. H., last night after visiting friends in the city for the past two weeks.

Mrs. A. O. Warner of Merchant street left this morning for Williamstown, where she will visit friends and relatives for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly returned to their home in Brattleboro last night after visiting friends on North Main street during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop of East Barre passed through the city to-day en route for St. Johnsbury and Lyndonville for a few days' stay with friends.

Leslie Wyllie has completed his duties at the Red Cross Pharmacy and will leave for Sugar Hill, N. H., where he will remain for the next two weeks.

Miss Sylvia Malnati of West Hoboken, N. J., arrived in the city last night and will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Rossi of Foss street for a few weeks.

James Phelps, a graduate of the 1916 class at Goddard seminary, returned to his home in Marshfield last night after spending a few days in the city on a business trip.

Bear in mind the canning demonstration at Cobble Hill grange hall Thursday, Aug. 24. This was erroneously announced in yesterday's Times as a "county" demonstration.

A meeting of the Labor day refreshment committee will be held Tuesday evening, Aug. 22, in the polishers' hall, Nichols' block, at 7 o'clock prompt. Harry Dale, chairman.

Rutland, the league leaders, will be at Berlin street grounds this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is their purpose to carry home another I. A. C. victory. Can they do it? Come down, fans, and see a fast game—adv.

Louis Fava, who has been taking a 10 days' vacation from his duties as head waiter at the Chateau hotel in Ottawa, Ont., returned to Ottawa last night after visiting at the home of Ohgi Brignola for a few days.

Raymond Waterman has returned from Hardwick, where he has been visiting during the past week, while on his vacation from the Smith & Cummings market. Mr. Waterman resumed his duties in the market this morning.

Frank W. Smith, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Barre and Westerville for the past 10 days, left last night for Woodsville, N. H., where he will visit his son, Merton Smith, for a few days while en route to his home in Laconia, N. H.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sultor, Miss Alice Sullivan, Miss Jennie Marr, Miss Mamie McDonald and Miss Margaret Brown left by automobile this morning to tour through the White mountains to Old Orchard Beach, Me., where they will spend two weeks.

The condition of Luigi Gattoni of Railroad street, who suffered the partial severing of an artery in his left arm while working at the plant of C. W. McMillan & Son Thursday, is improving steadily, although the patient, who is at the City hospital, still feels the effects of a considerable blood letting.

Among the guests registered at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: Mr. and Mrs. D. Heald of Brookfield, Me., and Mr. and Mrs. A. Sturtevant of South Royalton, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Raymors of Athol, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Groat of New York City, Miss White and party of New York, W. J. M. Sutherland of Holyoke, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Crane, Miss Rheta Crane, Henry Downing and Miss Celia Gullivan of Windsor, Ralph Hillson of Somerville, Mass., Mrs. B. J. Anderson of St. Albans, H. M. Darling of Hardwick, C. H. Albert of Hartford, L. D. Sullivan of Philadelphia, Pa., C. A. Sikora of Boston, Dr. G. E. Kerr of New York City, and F. L. Abbott of Saxtons River.

Inquiry among the men who are peddling ice in the city develops the information that the shortage which is disturbing the equanimity of consumers is not experienced here in Barre. Storage houses of J. M. Ward & Son are well filled with ice and the abnormally humid weather of the past few weeks has not affected the supply to any appreciable extent. Extreme care is always taken in storing the ice and the local ice dealer may have the precautionary measures taken in the winter to thank for the fact that there is an abundance of ice in August. Last winter ice of unusual thickness and high quality was secured. In summers past the local dealer has been able to furnish outside towns with ice and several advances have been made this year for quantities varying in size.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was in Burlington, and when he arrived in the Queen city on Thursday his wife was ready to accompany him back to Lebanon. Burns said she was thoroughly penniless and proved it when he informed her that he was without the necessary fare to see her through to New Hampshire. They got as far as Montpelier when their money gave out, and after they had spent the best part of the day at the police station here, Chief Sinclair negotiated with a former employer of Burns in Lebanon and sent them on their way.

Barre police lent their assistance yesterday in bringing about a complete reunion of a couple from Lebanon, N. H., who were stranded here in the city and appealed to police headquarters for assistance. According to William Burns, the husband in the little expedition, his wife left him a fortnight ago. Something told him that she was